

The Netherlands,

The Netherlands is a country of transport flows. Every day, goods are shipped from Dutch ports to the European hinterland, by road and rail, through the air and over water.

a transport-oriented country

Freight transport total in 2011, in million tonnes

